Library Material Delivery to Individuals

The KSU Library System does not ship or deliver library material to individuals. Library policy allows the delivery of books and other media to higher education institutions or public libraries only. Current faculty, staff and enrolled students may submit requests for circulating KSU library material, via GIL (GALILEO Interconnected Libraries), to be delivered to the closest University System of Georgia library for pick up.

All current faculty, staff, and students (including registered distance learning students) may remotely access library materials through electronic journals, databases, and electronic books made available through subscriptions paid for by the KSU Library System.
